Tuesday 30th March 2010
Sandy Park, Exeter

A seminar on the implications of the Act for those involved in managing or developing the marine and coastal environment.

When the Act received Royal assent in November last year it was seen as a “historic ground-breaking legislation fulfilling the Government’s commitment to introduce a new framework for managing the demands we put on our seas, improve marine conservation, and open up access for the public to the English coast.” Do you know how this will affect your business?

In this day seminar, jointly organised by Tozers LLP, solicitors and Royal Haskoning, environmental consultants, we will draw together up-to-date and relevant knowledge of how the Act will affect the work of those involved in managing or developing the marine and coastal environment.

With experts from our two firms and other specialists from organisations such as the Marine Management Organisation, Natural England, Finding Sanctuary and Devon Wildlife Trust, this will be an ideal opportunity for you to hear how key elements of the new law could affect your business. Topics will include:

» marine spatial planning
» marine licensing regime
» coastal access provisions
» marine conservation zones
» implications for marine renewables
» changes to fisheries management
» coastal landowners rights and responsibilities

For further details, the programme and booking form are attached - please return this with your payment by Monday 22 March to secure your place.